

SPECIAL AWARDS

Constantia Rotary Good Fellowship Award

Nominated with motivation by peers. The learner that has been a friend to the entire group. The one who has been the shoulder to cry on, who listens and helps those who are struggling with something, the one who is brave enough to care and not be afraid to show it.

Grade 8: Insaaf Sambo

Grade 9: Cailin Booysen

Grade 10: Joshua Timm

Grade 11: Caila Bergsma

4I: The four I's are Intelligence, Involvement, Integrity and Industry. This award goes to the learner who has displayed all of the above character traits. The one who has a level of intelligence which has shown him/her capable of problem solving and carrying out tasks without much assistance. The learner is involved in activities outside the class, not only with extra-murals or sports but who supports school functions and events. The integrity (honesty) of the person is never in question. This learner also has proven him/herself committed to academics and who consistently in and out of the classroom.

Selfless Service Award: For the learner/s who are just that: selfless. Always willing to sacrifice time to help, assisting wherever they can, staying after school whenever needed, spending time here over weekends or during the holidays. No request seems too great.

Shabnam Hoosen

Service to the Community: For the learner who has placed others above him/herself. Someone who has dedicated time and energy to assist those who are less fortunate. A learner who has been of service to the community.

Nicole C. Smith

Academic and Extra-Mural Excellence: Simply a learner who is an all-rounder. Someone who is academically committed and hard-working but someone who also plays hard and who has dedicated time and energy to sports and extra-murals at school. Excellence in sports/extra-mural does not refer necessarily to skill but to the excellent commitment and dedication displayed by the learner.
